

Oliver Kamm Takes Down...

During the last day, our favourite liberal Oliver Kamm has taken down:

- Melanie Phillips who is often right but not when she confuses liberalism with moral relativism!
- John Pilger, for whom 'invariably wrong' would be far too kind a designation.
- The BBC – if only 'amazingly sloppy and ignorant of history' were the worst criticism they deserved.
- The Stop The War Coalition (who intend to organise protests against President Bush in London during his forthcoming State Visit): "a front organisation for a totalitarian and antisemitic party of the Fascist Left ... dedicated to the overthrow of parliamentary democracy and to military victory for Saddam Hussein" (Or rather, the Liberal Party's shameful association with that organisation.)

A nice day's blogging, Mr Kamm.

Thu, 11/13/2003 - 01:26 | permalink