

In A Nearby Universe: Saddam Turns Other Cheek To Iranian Nukes

Saddam Hussein and his sons were so humbled by the example of the United States in abandoning its invasion at the last moment out of respect for the UN, that they ordered the termination of all Iraq's illegal weapons research programmes.

Then they converted to Christianity and used the power of the Holy Spirit to bring all the people they had killed back to life.

Most remarkably of all, a few months later, when Iran's secret nuclear programme was revealed, Saddam announced a new policy of "turning the other cheek" and ordered all former Iraqi nuclear scientists to be assigned to hydro-electric projects in the desert in order to "keep their minds away from their former wicked ways".

Thu, 02/05/2004 - 23:23 | digg | del.icio.us | permalink